1. Intent

The purpose of this policy is to clarify arrangements for the display of the Australian National flag, State flag of Western Australia, Australian Aboriginal Flag, and other flags on the campuses of Edith Cowan University (ECU).

2. Organisational Scope

All staff and students of Edith Cowan University.

3. Definitions

Australian National Flag  The Australian National Flag has three elements on a blue background: the Union Flag, the Commonwealth Star and the Southern Cross.

The Union Flag occupies the upper left corner and acknowledges the history of British settlement.

Directly below the Union Flag is the white Commonwealth star. It has seven points representing the unity of the six states and territories of the Commonwealth of Australia at the time of Federation. It is immediately beneath the St. George’s Cross in the Union Flag.

The Southern Cross is shown in white on the fly of the flag. This five star constellation can only be seen in the Southern Hemisphere and is a reminder of Australia’s geography.

<td>Torres Strait Islander Flag</td>
<td>The Torres Strait Islander Flag has green panels at the top and bottom of the flag represents the land with the central blue panel representing the sea. The black lines dividing the panels represent the Torres Strait Islander people. The centre of the flag shows a white dhari (dancer’s headdress) which is a symbol for all Torres Strait Islanders. Underneath the dhari is a white five-pointed star. White symbolises peace and the star is an important symbol for navigating the sea. The five points of the star represent the island groups in the Torres Strait.</td>

The PRIDE Flag, sometimes referred to as the Rainbow Flag, is symbolic of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender and Intersex (GLBTI) people.

The colours reflect the diversity of the GLBTI community.

The flag shows six horizontal stripes, with the colours red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet. It is flown with the red stripe on top, as it would be in a natural rainbow.

The ECU flag depicts the ECU promotional corporate logo.

Half mast is the flying of a flag below the top of a flag pole to indicate mourning.

4. Policy Content

4.1 The display of flags on University grounds complies with the Flags Act 1953. The display of flags on University campuses accords with the protocols and guidelines set out by the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet, Australian Capital Territory. These protocols guide the handling and flying of the Australian National flag in a variety of situations, e.g. flying the Australian National flag together with other national flags or to symbolise mourning (flying at half mast)

4.2 The Australian National flag is flown daily at each campus.

4.3 The Western Australian State Flag is flown on appropriate occasions in accordance with State Government protocols.

4.4 The Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet and the State Department of the Premier guide the University on special occasion flag events.

4.5 The Australian Aboriginal flag is flown daily at each campus.

4.6 The Torres Strait Islander flag is flown during NAIDOC Week, National Sorry Day and during Reconciliation Week.

4.7 The PRIDE flag is flown during PRIDE Month.

4.8 Flags of other sovereign nations are flown to recognise the presence of dignitaries from other countries in their capacity as official visitors to the University.

4.9 The Vice-Chancellor’s approval is required for the flying of other flags, in the case of visiting dignitaries or on special occasions.

4.10 The ECU flag is flown daily, excepting when other flags are using this flag pole. This includes during NAIDOC Week, National Sorry Day, Reconciliation Week, PRIDE Month and when flags of other sovereign nations are flown.
